FOREWORD

1787-1945

Louisburg College stands a symbol of knowledge, a shrine in which students find ideals for life. Beneath her sturdy oaks and her stalwart columns are found the right ideals. She had sheltered students through uncertain days of inflation, depression, war, and civil strife, and with all she had, fought for freedom. From all crises, she has emerged victorious in her ideas and has profited from her experiences.

Louisburg College is now facing the greatest period of her existence. By the influence of her alumni will her future be determined.

In this annual are recorded scenes of Louisburg College life with the hope of preserving every important, every thrilling, every joyous moment of lives lived in the fellowship of her halls. These "mystic cords of memory" reach out to all the battlefields of the world and unite her sons and daughters in the bonds of truth, and beauty, and honor.

Louisburg College, Queen of the campus,

Louisburg College our own—

We will always love and cherish
Wherever we may roam.

Goodbye college classmates;

Farewell college fair,

It's a long, long way to Louisburg
College

But my heart's right there.

ODE TO LOUISBURG

In loving honor of those who were companions with me at Louisburg, 1941-1942.

I saw a hundred hard brown acorns
Split open, and from out came a hundred mighty oak trees—Tall, majestic and straight.
Mighty oaks with faultless arms.

Arching high as if in prayer,
or bending gently to the ground
In submissive humility—
For even they must know
They were on holy ground.

DEDICATION

The stalwart Oak, capable of life, growth and death, stands on the hilltop, its strong limbs having wrestled with a thousand storms, rejoices in its strength and rugged beauty. It is typical of all life, plant, animal and human. Its dignity and charm, its dependency on Nature, its acceptance of life's offerings, its service to mankind, constitute a testimony of the Creator's gracious favor to all His creatures.

In the spirit of reverence and understanding, we dedicate this our Book to that mighty symbol of life—THE OAK.

TRIBUTE

REVEREND E. H. DAVIS

The personality of a teacher contoured by years of study, of unselfish service, and of creative preaching, is a rare possession. It is this ripeness of judgment, fund of knowledge, and soul culture that Reverend E. H. Davis brings into the classroom for his students in a Bible Survey course. Truly they are enriched by the close fellowship that the classroom presents.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

President, KATHARINE CHAMPION; Vice President, MARY GOODWIN; Secretary, EARLINE WHITEHURST; Treasurer, TALMADGE LANCASTER.

We, the seniors, have worked hard to attain our goal. As we leave our Alma Mater, and continue on our journey of life, we are sure we will be fully rewarded for our efforts. On this journey, we hope to be able to contribute much to a world of peace, and contribute in such a way that the world will later be able to profit by our contributions.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

President, FLOYD EVANS; Vice President, BARBARA EATMAN; Secretary, EUGENE EMORY; Treasurer, ABNER ASKEW.

We represent the future. Although it seems as if the mighty hands of will are making it difficult for us, the Junior Class of 1944-45 is striving to gain knowledge in order that we may be able to confirm the future—our efforts are not in vain.

President, ANNE WHITEHEAD; Vice President, BARBARA THORSON; Secretary, STROWD WARD; Treasurer, DOT KENNEDY; Y.W.C.A. President, FRANCES MERRITT; Senior Class Representative, TAYLOR STEPHENSON; Junior Class Representative, EMILY TAYLOR.

The Women's Student Council is as its title implies—the student's government. The purpose of this association is to remind the students of the ideals of the College, to enforce regulations not reserved for the faculty, and to work for the general happiness of the students of Louisburg College.

MEN'S STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS

President, FRED DAVIS; Vice President, DWIGHT HOOPER; Secretary-Treasurer, TALMADGE LANCASTER; LANGILL WATSON, FLOYD EVANS, L. B. PATTISHALL.

The purpose of the Men's Student Council is to help in creating a friendly atmosphere at Louisburg College which will make it easy to live right and difficult to do wrong. The Council works on the principle that it is easier to prevent trouble than it is to stop it. This spirit of helpfulness has done much in creating a homey atmosphere in the Men's Dormitory.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

President, WOODSON FEARING; Vice President, LANGILL WATSON;
Secretary, BOB BIKLE.

The Young Men's Christian Association has a definite purpose on any College campus. Wherever young men are brought into a group, there is need for spiritual uplift. The Y.M.C.A. endeavors to create a Christian fellowship and a high standard of character among the men.

YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

President, FRANCES MERRITT; Senior Vice President, MARY LEE
HODGES; Junior Vice President, CAROL BESSENT; Treasurer, PAT
PERRY; Secretary, BARBARA HOWARD.

The Young Women's Christian Association has its place on the campus for the purpose of emphasizing the Christian way of life in the midst of educational pursuits and college activities. It takes into its membership any young woman in sympathy with Christian ideals. Services are conducted weekly by students and faculty members and outside speakers. A faculty advisory committee assists in the work of the organization.

Several Committees unite in the furtherance of Christian ideals among which are world citizenship and friendship.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

CENTRAL RELIGIOUS COUNCIL

The Central Religious Council is distinct in its functioning as a definitely faculty-student group. It purposes to view campus religious needs and to work toward meeting them, cooperating with other religious groups and initiating other activity. The annual Religious Emphasis Week is an area of major effort for the Council.

Columns, the College newspaper, is just what the name implies: stately, supporting, impressive. Its trend and effort are to stimulate and elevate campus thought and feeling by setting a wholesome and restrained standard of refinement.

Columns was established by the Journalism class of 1941 through the co-operation of the college business office. Through its four years of existence, it has sought to provide a source of campus enjoyment and to furnish a medium of student expression.

In this third war year, we present THE OAK as an emblem of peaceful hopes and cherished ideals which we are proudly sustaining by defense for the dawn of tomorrow's new era. As some of the familiar hearts from this volume take up the march for this new morrow, we each extend all the happiness, friendship, ability, knowledge, workmanship, achievement, and kindled hope on each new page to these departing friends. On its twenty-second year of publication as on the day of its birth, THE OAK has shown no short coming in its fulfillment to youth; and until all our youth once again assembles together peacefully at her steps, she promises to keep her doors of opportunity swinging wide.
